Period for Reply

A SHORTENED STATUTORY PERIOD FOR REPLY IS SET TO EXPIRE 3 MONTH(S) OR THIRTY (30) DAYS, WHICHEVER IS LONGER, FROM THE MAILING DATE OF THIS COMMUNICATION.

- Extensions of time may be available under the provisions of 37 CFR 1.136(a). In no event, however, may a reply be timely filed after SIX (6) MONTHS from the mailing date of this communication.
- If NO period for reply is specified above, the maximum statutory period will apply and will expire SIX (6) MONTHS from the mailing date of this communication.
- Failure to reply within the set or extended period for reply will, by statute, cause the application to become ABANDONED (35 U.S.C. § 133). Any reply received by the Office later than three months after the mailing date of this communication, even if timely filed, may reduce any earned patent term adjustment. See 37 CFR 1.704(b).

Status

DETAILED ACTION

Election/Restrictions

1. Applicant's election without traverse of claims 97-104 in the reply filed on August 25, 2008 is acknowledged.

Specification

2. The lengthy specification has not been checked to the extent necessary to determine the presence of all possible minor errors. Applicant's cooperation is requested in correcting any errors of which applicant may become aware in the specification.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

3. The following is a quotation of the second paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall conclude with one or more claims particularly pointing out and distinctly claiming the subject matter which the applicant regards as his invention.

4. Claims 97-104 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention.

5. Claim 97 has limitations in the preamble referring to a microstructured fibre, which does not present patentable weight to the claim because it merely recites the intended use of the structure. Therefore, the references made to "the holes" lack antecedent basis.

6. Similarly, claim 99 recites "the preform", which was not given patentable weight as mentioned in claim 97 above, therefore, "the preform" lack antecedent basis. Also, claim 101 refers to "the tubes" which are related to the preform, therefore, the tubes lack antecedent basis.

7. Claim 100 refers to a claim 59, which is a method claim. It is unclear which claim it is really intending to limit. However, it will be interpreted as dependent on claim 97 in this action.

8. Claims 101, 102 and 104 recite the limitation "the aperture". There is insufficient antecedent basis for this limitation in the claims.

9. Claim 104 recites the limitation "the chambers" in line 2. There is insufficient antecedent basis for this limitation in the claim.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

10. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

(e) the invention was described in (1) an application for patent, published under section 122(b), by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent or (2) a patent granted on an application for patent by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent, except that an international application filed under the treaty defined in section 351(a) shall have the effects for purposes of this subsection of an application filed in the United States only if the international application designated the United States and was published under Article 21(2) of such treaty in the English language.

11. Claim 97 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Hick, Jr. (4,551,162). Hicks, Jr. discloses a connector with a plurality of elements capable of mating with holes and connectable to a pressure source (figure 6, col. 4 lines 15-30).

12. Regarding claim 98, Hicks also discloses different elements connectable individually to different pressure source (figure 6, col. 4 lines 15-30).
13. Regarding claim 99, Hicks also discloses the elements as chambers in which one or more tubes terminate (figure 6, col. 4 lines 15-30).
14. Regarding claim 100, Hicks discloses the chambers in fluid communication with a passage that is connectable to the pressure source (figure 6, col. 4 lines 15-30).
15. Regarding claim 101 Hicks depicts the chambers distributed in the connector in a plane substantially orthogonal to the direction in which tubes are intended to pass the chambers (figure 6).
16. Regarding claim 102, the chambers are adjacent to holes (figure 6, col. 4 lines 15-30).
17. Regarding claim 103, the chambers in figure 6 can be broadly interpreted to be recesses located in a side of the connector.
18. Claims 97 and 104 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) as being anticipated by Roba et al. (2004/0261460). Roba discloses a connector (200) with a plurality of elements (201-209) capable of mating with holes and connectable to a pressure source (figure 1). Roba also discloses elements that are chambers that are distributed in the connector along the direction in which the tubes are intended to pass through an aperture (figure 1).

Conclusion

Any inquiry concerning this communication or earlier communications from the examiner should be directed to Queenie Dehghan whose telephone number is
